WHAT IS PAPSSN?

PAPSSN, The Pan-Africa Planetary and Space Science Network, it's an Intra-Africa mobility project funded by the European Commission.

PAPSSN aims to create a mobility scheme for MSc and PhD students across Africa working in the field of Planetary and Space Sciences (PSS), anything from astrobiology, planetary geology to cosmology and astrophysics is welcome.

WHAT IS PAPSSN OFFERING YOU?

PAPSSN includes up to 50 scholarships for full MSc, full PhD degrees as well as short mobility periods. If you are looking for ways of supporting your postgraduate studies and/or your research project get in touch with us.

WHERE CAN I GO WITH PAPSSN?

If your application is successful you can choose to perform your studies and research activities in one of the 5 partner institutions across Botswana, Nigeria, Ethiopia, South Africa and Zambia. You pick your host institution amongst the partners... as long as you are 'moving' away from your country. Remember, the goal is to promote mobility!

WHAT CAN I DO TO GET PAPSSN SCHOLARSHIP?

The 3RD call will be open until Mid March 2023, start working at your research proposal and download all the application documents from our website and identify a potential research topic for your MSc (<https://www.papssnmobility.org/study-research-opportunities/>). But don't forget, the first step is always to get in touch with your potential supervisor at the host institution.
